Any Loose Switches In Your Home?

Do you hear a crackling noise in your radio when you walk across the room or when you turn on lamps or appliances? Do you have to wiggle a switch before electricity goes on? Does the switch or button feel loose?

If any of these things happen, there's something that needs fixing. It should be done immediately—not only because new materials might not be available but for other important reasons—

A "short" will develop eventually which might give a shock, blow a fuse, burn out a switch completely—even might cause a fire.

Most such repairs require expert knowledge. Any competent electrician is such an expert. If you attempt your own repairs, play safe. Make sure the current is off.

A lot of storekeepers in town are worrying about being able to get help these days. Judge Men are mighty scarce and getting more so all the time.

"I know Even the big companies are having quite a job getting them. Yep, and they need 'em too. Take the beverage distilling companies for example... they need a lot of manpower. Though they're not making whiskey any more, they're doing a 24-hour-a-day job of turning out alcohol for gun powder and synthetic rubber for the government."

"Makes me think back to the days before repeal when a powerful number of people were making liquor, too... only they were a bunch of law-flouting criminals doing it behind closed doors. And the government wasn't collecting a billion dollar excise tax either. Ever stop to wonder where the government could get all its war alcohol today if it weren't for the beverage distillers?"
